Transit Operations
Are Normal Again
After Short HaltMaintenance and Repair
Stoppage Did Not Affect Schedules
of Lines

New York, April 18 (AP)—Maintenance and repair operations in the city-owned transit systems were back to normal today after a half-day work stoppage by more than 6,000 employees.

The work stoppage and a union demonstration against the Board of Transportation, which started at noon yesterday, did not interfere with operation of the subway, elevated and surface lines.

The C.I.O. Transport Workers Union—at odds with the board—had limited the picket to maintenance and other non-operating employees. The demonstration outside the board's offices was joined by many other workers off duty in the afternoon.

The city is not expected to penalize those who quit work, outside of docking them a half day's pay, which the demonstrators expected and accepted.

The massed demonstrators, however, authorized a general strike on the transit lines if the board "suspends one man for this demonstration."

Called by Quill

The walkout authorization—voted by a unanimous show of hands—was called for by the union's international president, Michael J. Quill.

Quill congratulated the union members for shaking off their shackles by striking off the job in the face of the state's law forbidding strikes by public employees. The law, which the city is not expected to invoke for yesterday's walkout, provides a number of employment penalties such as discharge or loss of tenure, and denial of pay increases.

The demonstration was called off to protest against the downgrading and reduction in pay for motormen and other operating employees.

Dulles Would Let
Red China in U.N.,
If Rule Succeeds

Lake Success, April 18 (AP)—Republican Adviser John Foster Dulles contends in a new book that the Red China government should be admitted to the United Nations if it can rule without serious internal resistance. He doesn't think it can, though.

His "new peace" is a 247-page review and preview of the cold war to be published today, thus touches on the greatest immediate question that has brought the United Nations to a stalemate.

Russia is boycotting 19 U.N. organs that have met this year. The Russians are protesting the continued presence of Nationalist China delegates here and the majority's refusal to throw them out in favor of the Reds.

Dulles, who was appointed April 6 to an advisory post in the State Department, comments on Red China in these words in a chapter appealing for "universality" of membership in the United Nations:

"If the Communist government of China in fact proves its ability to govern China without serious domestic resistance, then it, too, should be admitted to the United Nations. However, a regime that claims to have become the government of a country through civil war should not be recognized until it has been tested over a reasonable period of time."

Dulles predicts the Communist China regime will eventually fail in the economic and social fields and will fail to make good its propaganda pledges. He laments the tragic postwar developments that have left a Red Government rise in a country that became a big power in the U.N. at the insistence of the late President Roosevelt.

"All that the United States did to enhance the prestige of China and to give it a leading position in the United Nations and in the world may now be turned against us," Dulles says.

New York, April 18 (AP)—Moscow has announced, in the past half year, the deaths of 15 Russian generals and admirals—some of them rather young.

The appearance of such obituaries so frequently in the Soviet press naturally arouses speculation in the west over the possibility of a new purge in the Soviet Union. However, there has been no hint in the advices which pass through Moscow censorship that a purge actually is under way.

Even if the Soviet press has reported all the deaths of the top military brass, a rather high mortality rate is indicated, particularly when a number of the officers were in their forties.

The Russians also have reported the deaths of a considerable number of civilians, as well as military officials. The latest obituary of this type published by the Soviet press was that of N. V. Egorov, 48-year-old official of the council of ministers, whose death was announced today.

Other high-ranking Soviet functionaries also have passed away recently. They include Peter Anurov, a counselor first class in the Soviet foreign ministry. His age was not given in the March 5 obituary, but it said the death was "timely."

Another such was Anatoli Kopytov, minister of cinematography, who died March 10. He was only 43.

Alexander Petukhov, deputy chief of the Communist party central committee organization bureau, died April 13, 11½ age.

Another high-ranking Soviet functionary who died was Nikolai Luzin, died suddenly March 3. He was once under fire on a charge of being servile to the ideas of western scientists.

Last week the Berlin newspaper Tagesspiegel published a report that Maj. Gen. Pavel Kvasnin, killed himself and his family when he was caught trying to escape from Poland to Sweden.

The newspaper gave directors of the Soviet-run rail system as its source for the report. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1)

U. S. Charges Reds Shot
Plane Down in Open BalticBomb Plan
Ends; Man
Lost Nerve

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Love for a pretty red-haired airline stewardess was advanced today by police as a motive for the action of a young father who sought to destroy his family by planting a time bomb on an airliner carrying them and 13 other persons.

Police Lt. C. E. Ream said that Miss Betty Suomela of Hermosa Beach told him that she was in love with John Henry Grant, 32, and that at the approximate time yesterday that he placed the bomb on an United Air Lines DC-3, she thought he was appearing in court getting a divorce from his wife.

The stewardess, who is not employed by United, told Ream that Grant led her to believe that he would marry her after the divorce. Ream questioned the stewardess after Grant drove her car to the airport. Ream said he was convinced that the stewardess was in no way implicated in the case and that she would be released.

Grant lost his nerve at the last moment and no one was injured. Just as the blue and silver United Airlines DC-3 was about to leave Los Angeles International Airport for San Diego yesterday, Grant ran to the ticket counter and screamed:

"Don't let that plane take off! I just put a bag on it full of gasoline!"

Suitcase Explodes
At the same moment a baggage handler loading the plane out on the field dropped a heavy suitcase. It exploded and flames flared up, singeing the man's eyebrows and hair.

The baggage handler, Harold Mayer, quickly extinguished the flames and tossed the suitcase out on the ground. He opened it and found an alarm clock wired to ignite a box of matches, which in turn would have exploded several gallons of gasoline contained in sections of an intertube. Only a small portion of the gasoline was ignited, however, and no one else was injured.

Det. N. G. Legason, who arrested Grant, said the crazed, tight-lipped engineer told him he was $6,000 in debt. He quoted Grant as saying he planned to collect $25,000 in insurance taken out at the airport on his wife and two children.

Det. R. E. McCredie said Mrs. Grant told him most of the debt was incurred in connection with a paternity suit involving her husband in New York several years ago.

"The last few weeks he's been very nice to me," McCredie quoted Mrs. Grant. "Last week he told me to buy a new dress. I wondered why he was being so nice, guess this must be the answer."

Miss Suomela, the lieutenant said, told him she met Grant three years ago, shortly after arriving here from New York. She said Grant told her he was separated from his wife and that his marriage had been childless.

Was 'Getting' Divorce
For some time, Ream quoted her, he has been telling her she was getting a divorce. Yesterday, she added, he told her was the day he was to appear in court to get the divorce.

Report From Nationalists
Says Battle Is Continued

Taipei, Formosa, April 18 (AP)—Chinese Nationalists said today their planes killed more than 2,000 Red invaders of Hainan Island on invasion craft and beaches.

Air Headquarters said the toll was counted only until evening of yesterday's fighting.

Nationalist defenders of the vital South China island, fighting back on the ground, sea and in the air, continued the battle today against more than 7,000 Red invaders who have established two beachheads.

Nationalist ground forces claimed they have constrained the Red invaders who stormed ashore early yesterday. The Nationalists asserted the Communists succeeded in landing only about half of a 15,000-man force hurled in the greatest amphibious operation against the big stronghold of South China.

(A Hong Kong dispatch said the Chinese Communists have attacked and presumably occupied tiny Lintin Island five miles west of Hainan and only three miles outside British territorial waters.)

(The Lintin action is believed to be the start of an all-out campaign against the Mamban group of about 30 islands between Hong Kong and Macao, Portuguese colony. Nationalist launches and gunboats based on these islands have blockaded tightly the Pearl river approach to Canton and slowed junk trade between Hong Kong and Macao.)

On Hainan, ground force commanders declared they have a good chance of wiping out the beachheads within the next 48 hours if Red reinforcements can be kept from landing. The Nationalist navy was reported to have this situation in hand, with ships deployed to cut off any Communist craft attempting to put more troops ashore.

Thruway Bosses
Order Borings in Rockland Region

Engineers Are Instructed to Begin at Once
With Preliminary Testing

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Test borings and preliminary study for construction of a bridge to carry the state Thruway across the lower Hudson river were ordered today by the Thruway Authority.

The authority directed its consulting engineers, Madigan and Hyland, to undertake the work immediately, between southern Rockland and Westchester counties.

The super-highway originally was to have been constructed on the west side of the river from the New Jersey state line north to Albany, where it will swing westward across the state.

A change in plans calls for the expressway to cross to the east side of the lower Hudson to make direct connection with New York city arteries. The original plan contemplated a New Jersey link to connect with the George Washington bridge.

Concerning the proposed Rockland-Westchester bridge, Authority Chairman Bertram D. Tallamy said:

"Studies made in recent weeks indicate that by crossing the river in this area more efficient connections can be made to Route 17 and the area it serves."

Route 17 is the main east-west traffic artery along New York's southern border. It crosses into New Jersey to provide a connection with the George Washington bridge into New York city.

Mental Health Program Is Announced for April 23 to 29

The Mental Health Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association is planning observance of Mental Health Week, April 23-29, it was announced by Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman.

Ceremonies in Ulster county will be part of a nationwide observance of the week, organized to focus public attention on the prevention of mental illness and on the need for community activity and support behind a broad education and preventive program.

Highlights of the Mental Health Week program will be a movie showing of "The Feeling of Rejection," sponsored by the Kingston High School parents and teachers discussion group at the Kingston High School on Monday, April 24 at 8 p. m. This movie shows how childhood incidents can affect behavior throughout life. A panel of experts—a psychiatrist, clergyman, doctors, a welfare worker, a teacher, parents and nurses will discuss the film.

A movie, "The Problem Child," will be shown to various groups during this week. A visit will be made by several members of the Mental Health Committee to Middletown State Hospital. A leadership training course for baby-sitters will be held at Kingston High School on April 26 at 3:30 p. m. The County Department of Health, the radio, newspapers, and various other agencies in the communities are cooperating with the Mental Health Committee in the observance of Mental Health Week.

Dr. Shea said the part the community can play in combating mental illness cannot be too strongly emphasized.

Planes Stop Looking for Craft Missing Since
April 8

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The United States charged today that Russian fighters shot down the missing American navy patrol plane over open waters of the Baltic Sea.

It demanded that Russia punish those responsible and pay appropriate indemnity for the lives of the ten men lost in the plane.

The charge and the demand were made in a formal reply to Russia's protest of April 13 that an American plane had flown over Latvia and exchanged gunfire with Soviet aircraft on April 8.

The American note, delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, demanded also that "the most strict and categorical instructions" be issued to the Soviet air force to prevent any new incident "so clearly calculated to magnify the difficulties of maintaining peaceful and correct international relationship."

The note flatly rejected Russia's claim that the American plane flew over Russian territory in violation of international law. It charged the Soviets with a "violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations."

The 600-word counter-protest said the American investigation determined that the U. S. plane involved was the navy four-engine privateer patrol craft which has been missing in the Baltic area since April 8.

An American aircraft operator under strict instructions to avoid flying over any foreign territory except with express permission, the note said.

Was Over Open Sea
It added that the U. S. investigation convinced this government that the navy plane did not fly over "any Soviet or Soviet occupied territory."

West Hurley Man

For Knaust Arson

The sheriff's office today completed its roundup of men charged with third degree arson in connection with a fire which damaged the Knaust Brothers Blinnwater plant on March 28.

Two sheriff's men arrested William Harvey Harrington, 27, of West Hurley, as he left Columbia County Court in Hudson this morning after he had been arraigned on similar charges in connection with a fire at the mushroom firm's Lanthier plant. The arrest was made by County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and Identification Officer Leonard Belmont.

Harrington, one of 10 men indicted by the grand jury on charges of third degree arson and malicious mischief, will be arraigned in county court.

Hudson, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Four striking employees of Knaust Brothers Mushroom Company pleaded innocent today to charges of third-degree arson in connection with a fire March 31 in a pumphouse operated near here by the company.

Arraigned in Columbia county court were William H. Harrington, 27, West Hurley; George F. Ford, 30, Catskill; Vincent A. Macarilli, 34, Catskill; and Alfred Clearwater, 18, Glasco.

Judge William J. J. Connor continued bail of $2,500 each and gave their attorneys 20 days to move for dismissal of the indictments.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, April 17 (AP)—The drive to keep the business family healthy, happy and productive is growing rapidly these days.

A number of companies conduct classes their employees may attend if they wish to advance themselves to better jobs, develop skills and abilities, and incidentally repay the companies through better workmanship.

Employee recreational programs are widespread now in industry. More recent are the employee blood banks and the company hospital and surgical plans. They are usually cooperative efforts.

All are aimed at strengthening the family feeling, which for a time almost disappeared from the American industrial scene because physical plants and employee rolls grew rapidly while personal relations slipped.

Here are a few isolated instances and highlights, typical of many more in all corners of the nation.

Education courses offered by SKF Industries, Inc., in its ball and roller bearing plants in Philadelphia, Shippensburg, Pa., and Hummel, N. Y., are attended by about 300 of its 3,000 factory workers. The courses are free; SKF executives and supervisors do the teaching; the company library furnishes the books free; classes are held after working hours in the company's plants.

Most popular subjects are quality control, shop mathematics, production planning, slide rule and blue print reading. The company has just announced three new courses: Advanced mathematics, statistical graphs and metallurgy. Management says the courses increase employee interest in their jobs.

Board Is Interested

Employee recreation programs have interested the National Industrial Conference Board enough to lead to a survey of 264 companies having them. The board finds that 92 per cent of the companies chip in on the expense but less than 11 per cent bear the entire cost. A fourth of the companies employ full-time recreation directors. The cost per employee averaged $3 a year for all companies estimating costs, while the employee's average contribution is estimated at $6. Vending machine profits are used by 43 per cent of the companies to help finance recreation.

The ten most frequent activities are: Bowling, softball, golf, basketball, picnics, Christmas parties, horseshoe, other parties, baseball and social dancing. A third of the companies let employees plan these activities on company time. A tenth pay for time spent practicing, but only a third for time practicing games, and almost all traveling to sports events is done on the worker's time.

Plans Are Studied

In the matter of helping employees with their hospital and surgical expenses, the board studied 261 company group insurance plans and finds: 59 per cent used a commercial insurance carrier, 25 per cent use prepayment or Blue Cross service, and the remainder use combinations of both.

Maternity benefits are granted to female employees in 92 per cent of the plans. But dad isn't forgotten. Eight out of ten plans with dependents' coverage provide payments to employees when their wives are in the hospital for maternity care.

Blood banks are one of the fastest growing industrial phenomena of postwar days. In the Greater New York area alone there are about 400 groups depositing blood with the Red Cross, with an estimated four million persons protected.

A large utility corporation says 65 per cent of the blood provided by its employee bank is going to employees' dependents, so a drive is on to get family members to contribute to the bank.

Some corporations deal with local hospitals to maintain general blood banks from which their employees can draw in time of need. Since whole blood under refrigeration is good for only about 21 days, a constant stream of deposits is necessary. If all goes well at the plant, the employees may build up a large credit of blood in the bank. A disaster at the plant could mean that employees would quickly overdraw their account.

In almost all cases, the conference board finds, plants leave it up to employees to recruit donors, but in many cases the administration of the bank is jointly handled by company and employees.

*There was a Lady named Sally,

In Sally Smith's home for many a year,
There was an old range that looked mighty queer,
A decided misfit in her bright little kitchen.
For a new model range, she surely was itchin'!

She'd nurse it along as long as she might,
Run-down-at-the-heels, it cooked like a fright.
Now, Sally was tired of such a raw deal,
She certainly knew how a turning worm feels!

When clean Natural Gas loomed on the horizon,
She dreamed of a new range to bake her mince pies in!
You can easily see why Sally would yearn
For a stylish new range with a new fuel to burn

She worked on her husband to get to the shops,
To pick out the range which in her eyes was tops
She double-checked broilers and ovens of each,
And even for Sally the price was in reach.

Then Sally, in triumph, with stars in her eyes,
Took home her dazed husband with visions of pies
And rich cakes and meat dishes cooked to perfection,
All done on the range of her careful selection.

And all this came true because Sally was smart
Bade good-bye to the old, gave the new range her heart.
For she knew that in summer when Natural Gas came,
As a far-sighted housewife she'd staked out her claim!

Army Is Spending Heavily Annually On Certain Tests

Detroit, April 18 (AP)—The army is spending more than $12,000,000 a year on research in biological, radiological and chemical warfare. Also, it is studying 'new nerve gases'.

Maj. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, chief of the chemical corps, disclosed this last night. McAuliffe, the hero of Bastogne, mentioned the work in an address to the 117th annual meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Of the 'nerve gases' he gave no particulars. General McAuliffe introduced the subject by saying it was a 'well-known fact' that German scientific experts on toxic chemical warfare were being 'exploited' by Soviet Russia.

"It must be assumed, therefore," he said, "that we are not the sole possessors of the offensive and defensive secrets of the new nerve gases."

"Our research in this field is directed towards keeping us abreast of the latest developments. We are seeking to perfect all methods and techniques for the detection, decontamination, and the protection of personnel and animals from these new gases."

McAuliffe said he believed the United States would resort to gas, germ, or radiological warfare only in retaliation against an enemy's use of it.

"The U. S. preparations for gas warfare in the last war 'in all probability' deterred the enemy' from its use," he said.

Governor Signs Defense Measure For Bomb Attacks

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—A state civil defense commission with dormant wartime powers to cope with a super-bomb blitz was created today by Governor Dewey.

He signed the Becker bill that provides for a civilian-controlled statewide civil defense framework with city and county units. The measure appropriates $100,000 to get the state phase rolling.

Dewey said that in future war civil defense "will no longer be a mere supplemental service."

"It will be a service vital to the safety of the civilians at home and vital to the protection of munitions and supplies for the armed services," he added.

The nine-member commission, which will have "all basic authority" in setting up C. D. machinery, will appoint a state director of civil defense. It will be empowered to adopt regulations in peacetime and to adopt and enforce directives in wartime.

The commission will consist of two members to be appointed by the governor and seven state officials. They are Dewey's chief of staff, and the superintendents of the state police, public works and the division of safety, the chairman of the Public Service Commission, and the commissioners of health and social welfare.

Effective May 18

The Becker bill, which becomes effective May 18, also provides for county and city civil defense offices. The local directors will be appointed by the chairmen of the boards of supervisors and the mayors.

Dewey said in his annual message to the Legislature Jan. 4 that "the time has come" to set up a formal C. D. organization.

The legislation was drafted by the joint legislative committee to study the military law. Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, Nassau Republican who introduced the bill, is committee chairman.

The commission said that New York state and New York city would be "prime targets in any future war" and that the first blow probably would be a sneak punch.

In peacetime, the commission will develop C. D. plans in cooperation with federal agencies and other states as well as the armed forces; coordinate the activities of local units; provide information for and supervise the organization, training and equipping of C. D. forces, and undertake surveys of industries, resources and other related factors.

In wartime, the commission would enforce all C. D. laws and assume direct operational control of all C. D. forces; direct the evacuation of civilians from attacked areas, and adopt and enforce regulations on blackouts and other emergency measures.

Insurance Benefits Expected to Decline

Unemployment insurance benefit payments were up slightly in March but are expected to decline this month with the resumption of seasonal occupations and the beginning of an increasing number of construction projects.

The Department of Labor statistics for the Kingston office of its Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance show that the local office paid an average weekly number of unemployment claims of 1,575 in the city of Kingston in March, compared with a weekly average of 1,528 in February.

In the county, including the city of Kingston, a weekly average of 2,179 insurance payments was reported in March, compared to 2,088 in April.

At the same time, the number of new job applicants decreased in March. A total of 199 persons appeared at the local placement office in March to seek jobs, compared to 241 in February.

April figures are not yet available, but employment officials predict a sizeable decrease in the number of unemployed due to resumption of backyard and other seasonal work as well as the increase in construction work in this area.

Parking Power Granted
Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—New York city today had state permission to set up a city parking authority, with power to issue $100,000,000 in bonds. The three-member authority was authorized under a bill signed yesterday by Governor Dewey. It may "construct, operate and maintain one or more" parking projects in any of the city's five boroughs. Mayor William O'Dwyer will appoint authority members. The measure also permits the city to install parking meters on "designated streets." Revenue from such meters would go to the parking agency for bond retirement.

Birdsall Sweet Dies After 19 Years in Lung at Age of 32

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Death yesterday took 32-year-old Birdsall Sweet out of the iron lung that kept him breathing during 19 years of polio.

He had lived in an iron lung longer than any person in medical history. The next longest case was 15 years.

The young man's release came at the end of a slow decline that began last summer and grew more serious two months ago. Doctors called it "complications of long-established polio."

Sweet's father and mother, who spent a good part of their own lives serving their imprisoned son, were with him when he died.

"They have been a marvelously attentive family," the physician, Dr. Scott Lord Smith, said. The father, Percy Sweet, is a Beacon, N. Y., real estate man.

Sweet was stricken with polio when he was 13 years old. While he survived the first attack, he had to stay in the lung or stop breathing. Later he was able to leave it for short intervals, sometimes up to six hours, but always had to return.

He grew up in his strange prison and was as normal a boy as he could be. He became a baseball and football fan. Later he made himself an expert bridge player. Many people wrote to encourage him. One was another polio victim, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Release Almost Fatal
Once a relapse almost killed him, but he slowly worked his way back to what had become "normal" for him. Other ailments, many of them aggravated by his confined, immobile life, fastened on him. He suffered from colds, hay fever, eczema, curvature of the spine, pneumonia, eye trouble and kidney stones.

At one time he and his family had hoped and planned for the future, but as the years passed, they gave it up.

On Christmas in 1939 his father said: "We don't talk about futures. We're just going along from day to day."

A few days before Sweet's 21st birthday—also in 1939—it was found that his coming of age would make him ineligible for state and county help.

Unlike another widely-known iron lung prisoner, Fred Snie of Chicago, Sweet's parents were not prosperous and had to have outside assistance for the $100-a-week expenses of their son.

But the law proved elastic. County officials called on Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, now a U. S. senator. He consulted with his legal advisors. In the end, they agreed that if the law were looked at from a certain special angle, the aid could be continued, and it was.

"It just had to be done," said County Judge J. Gordon Flannery, now a State Supreme Court justice. "We couldn't let down a lad who had fought as long as he had."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, aches and pains, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backaches, low energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent awakenings may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's gives happy relief—helps the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Fair Trade Law Signed For Liquor Business

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—A fair trade law to prevent "price wars" in the retail liquor industry was signed today by Governor Dewey.

The measure, backed by the State Liquor Authority, requires all retail wine and liquor stores to post minimum price lists filed with the S.L.A. by distillers and wholesalers.

The new law replaces S.L.A. fair-trade regulations declared unconstitutional last Feb. 23 by the Court of Appeals.

The new law requires that wholesalers, distributors and distillers selling in New York state file a schedule of minimum consumer resale prices with the S.L.A. every 60 days. Brand names owned by retailers and sales to over-the-bar licensees are exempt.

The S.L.A. will set the date for filing of the first schedule.

The difference between golf and politics is that in the former you are always trying to get into a hole, and in the latter you are everlastingly trying to keep out of one.

Always

There were three stores in a row. On a certain day the man on one end put up a sign, "Fire Sale." The man on the other end put up a sign, "Bankruptcy Sale." The man in the middle thought a while, and then came out with a sign, "Main Entrance."

Visitor—Quite a place you have here. They must ask a lot for it.
Man—Oh, yes, nearly every day.

Frank—I'm going to bust your head in three places.
Harry—Hey, play fair. That's not giving me an even break.

Happiness is like a perfume. You cannot pour it on others without getting a few drops of it on yourself.

A man and his wife went for a walk in the woods. Suddenly they realized that they were lost.
Man—I wish Emily Post was with us. I think we took the wrong fork.

After all is said, the way to win success was put as clearly as need be by a little boy. When he was asked how he learned to skate, he replied: "Oh, by getting up every time I fell down."

The doctor had forgotten his patient's name, but did not like to admit it. Very tactfully, he inquired:
Doctor—Let me see now, do you spell your name with an 'i' or an 'e'?

Patient (Sweetly)—My name is Hill.

Wife—I think I'll go down town this afternoon.
Hubby—Shopping?

Wife—No, I won't have time. I just want to buy a few things.

Dad—Son, your condition leads me to suspect that you are given to drink.

Son—No, not at all, father. The drink was given to me.

Esopus Property Being Revaluated

Assessors of the town of Esopus on Monday began to collect data for a revaluation program designed to abolish any inequalities which may exist in property assessments.

The board of assessors started their work in Sloatsburg and will proceed through Port Jervis this week.

Data on each property will be listed on a separate index card under the new system.

The assessors plan to call on each resident during their tour through the entire township. They will take measurements of all parcels of property and buildings.

Cooperation of the residents has been requested by the assessors so that each parcel will have a fair and just assessment.

Each taxpayer will be notified in writing what his future assessment will be during the last week of July. At that time the assessors will receive any taxpayers who wish to register complaints or point out corrections.

The assessments will be figured at a higher rate, but this does not mean an increase in taxes, as the tax rate should decrease proportionately, the assessors point out.

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Lacking any indication of the lay of the cards from the bidding or play of a hand, many players will follow certain theories based on percentage. So, for example, if they have to take a finesse with nothing to guide them, they figure that the queen lies over the jack. To locate the king, they play for the king over the queen.

In today's hand declarer figured that on a percentage basis, the club honors held by the opponents should be split, and he used that theory profitably. He could count only eight tricks—one heart, five diamonds and two clubs. He knew that one of the opponents held five hearts, and with the ace of spades out against him, the outlook was not bright.

North allowed West to hold the first heart trick and won the second with the ace. Now he proceeded to cash five diamond tricks, discarding two spades from dummy. East let go a heart and a spade. West discarded two spades, but then he found himself squeezed. He decided to release a small club.

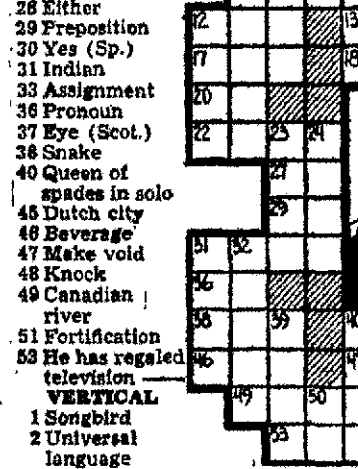

Declarer now led the jack of clubs. East covered with the queen and dummy's ace won. The king of clubs was cashed and West's ten fell, which set up three good clubs in dummy.

If West had discarded a heart instead of a club, declarer would have led a small spade from dummy after winning the club trick with the ace, and the contract would have been held to three no trump. West could have cashed the ace of spades and two hearts, but would have been end-played in clubs.

Asks Change of Name

Nagoya, Japan, April 18 (AP)—Isamu Kondo asked the court to change his first name to Yasuo. "Why?" asked the judge. Kondo explained: "Isamu is the name of a swordsman bandit chief and I don't think it is suitable for life in a democratic society under Japan's new constitution." The judge said he would think it over.

He isn't dirty, himself. He just hasn't got class and it can't be acquired. Justice Douglas, on the other hand, is notorious for having shocked at a dinner of a gag institution called J. Russell Young's School of Expression, a group of correspondents, who give occasional dinners and invite prominent men to give recitations. The recitation is always followed by the presentation of a diploma, save that Mr. Justice Douglas read an obscene, homemade doggerel which moved Mr. Young to remark quietly but firmly, "that fellow will never get a diploma." State Will Survey Huge Forest Tract Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—The state is launching an airborne operation in the Adirondacks and Catskills to classify about 6,000,000 acres of forest land.

Aerial photography will be used, State Comptroller Frank C. Moore said yesterday, to determine the value of state and private forests so "they will be subject to fair and equitable assessment." Moore is chairman of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, which is required to approve annually the valuation that local assessors place on state-owned lands by local assessors. Moore explained the project at the opening session of a three-day school for local assessors. He said it would take about two years to complete the survey. He estimated the cost at $125,000. The 1930-31 state budget provides $62,000 for the project. Most of the field work will be handled by the State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

What business would YOU like to be in?

To have your own business, or at least an income-producing interest in one, is a normal American ambition.

One way—a simple, practical way—to acquire such an interest is through investment in dividend-paying common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Your surplus funds can buy for you an income-producing share ownership in almost any business you select... a railroad, a food company, a public utility... companies manufacturing automobiles, farm machinery, chemicals.

Stockholders are mainly people of modest resources who have financed... and who own... the nation's industrial machine.

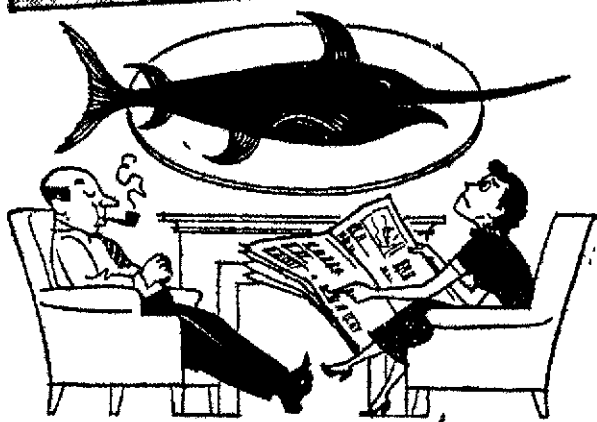

The choice of businesses open to you is wide, and interesting. You know many of the companies listed on the Exchange by their products or services, which you use regularly. Nine out of ten, or almost 900, of these listed companies paid cash dividends last year... 285 have paid dividends for twenty consecutive years or longer.

Yours for the asking... an informative booklet, Investment Facts about Common Stocks and Cash Dividends. Questions frequently asked by investors, to help them appraise elements of risk and profit in stock ownership, are answered. Included is a tabulation of companies that have paid cash dividends each year from 20 to 100 years, of their products or services, prices and dividend yields. Your copy may be obtained without obligation at any of the following offices of Member Firms of the Exchange... or, by writing the New York Stock Exchange, 20 Broad Street, New York 5.

Back in Prison

Folsom, Calif. (AP)—For some years the Mission San Juan Capistrano has had an apparent monopoly on a punctual-type swallow which left en masse every Oct. 23 and returned every March 19. Bird experts figure the swallows spend the winter along the Amazon. Poems, songs, and annual newspaper accounts have been written about the way they always come back on the same day. Comes now, belatedly, Folsom State Prison, California's maximum security institution for the extra-tough criminal, claiming that the swallows are just as punctual here. Associate Warden W. J. Ryan has been around 36 years. He says the birds never fail. They nest under the eaves of the prison cannery, under cornices of the walls, and in rock pockets high in the prison quarry.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

Mentioning the Pell farm in Ulster Park, as being the first to ship apples to Europe I asked if anyone had any more information on it. Received a five-page article as copied diligently and in a beautiful legible script handwriting by Daniel Carney of St. Remy as taken from the Ulster County Directory of 1871-1872. I am a great admirer of legible script as taught in the olden days, in my estimation it cannot be improved upon by modern methods.

Mr. Carney's article reads in part, "Ulster Park (p.o.) formerly called Amesville contains a Reformed Church, a school house, a store, a hotel, a blacksmith and wagon shop and about 60 inhabitants."

"Pellham Farm is the name of the magnificent country seat of Robert L. Pell, Esq., on the Hudson river. In this town, it contains 1,200 acres of the choicest land in the state, overlying gravel 12 feet deep. Every lot is watered by living springs. There are over 100 miles of stone underdrains, built in the most substantial manner. There are 10 artificial lakes, 14 feet deep and connected by 13 light and beautiful fancy bridges, constructed on iron rods. In these lakes are 55 varieties of fish, among them, imported from Europe are the Tench, known as the physician of fishes, and the Barbel."

"Mr. Pell was the first man in the United States who raised fish from impregnated eggs, and received a magnificent piece of plate from the State Agricultural Society for his experiment and essay on Pisciculture. He has taken premiums for every agricultural product, including cotton and tobacco, amounting to 70, and for the best agricultural farm in the United States. There is an orchard on his property containing 20,000 New Town Pippin apple trees, 40 years old. The fruit is shipped to Europe and often sells for $30 per barrel, 88 in New York has been the price for many years, and $8 per box containing 100 apples. The first quality are boxed, the second quality, barreled, and the third quality made into cider. Which when bottled sells for $4 per dozen, a barrel making 11 dozen bottles, 300,000 bushels of apples have been converted into cider in a single season. Mr. Pell has a vineyard of Isabella grapes containing 50 acres, from 6 to 16 years old, and as many as 100 bushel and a half baskets have been sent to New York in a single day."

From Mr. Pell's wharf, where four large steamers land daily for his freight alone on this wharf is a large stone building, covered with slate and ventilated at the top, where the apples are sweated for Europe, after which process they will keep nine months after crossing the Atlantic. Mr. Pell does not think well of the early varieties of grapes, such as the Concord, Hartford, Prolific-dona, for the New York market, because they have to compete with

Set Examination For State Police

A competitive examination for state trooper will be held in June in several cities of the state, John A. Gaffney, superintendent of the department announced today.

The announcement said the test for "Trooper, Executive Department, Division of State Police, will be held at Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Malone, Syracuse, White Plains, and at such other places as may be designated on June 1, 1950. Salary range, $1,380 to $3,120 per annum, plus lodging, food or allowance, fuel, and all service clothing and equipment."

The examination is open to citizens between 21 and 40, of sound constitution, not less than five feet 10 inches tall with weight in proportion to general build. There will be a written examination, oral interview, physical examination and an investigation of moral character. The announcement said applicants are requested not to mail licenses, military discharges or other documents with applications because they will be advised concerning them at a later date.

Bad Day for Fires

Trenton, N. J., April 18 (AP)—It was a bad day for forest fires in New Jersey yesterday. State Fire Warden William J. Seidel said the largest fire in the state, about 240 acres, broke out in the north of Waretown in Ocean county, and took two hours to control. There was a total of 31 fires during the day, burning up 500 acres. Seidel said a fire near miles south of Chatsworth in Woodland township, Burlington county, covered 125 acres. Another in South Toms River, Ocean county, burned 75 acres and took two hours to control. There were also fires in Passaic, Somerset, Sussex, Middlesex, Atlantic, and Gloucester counties. No one was reported injured, and no buildings were damaged.

To Spur New Election

London, April 18 (AP)—Britain's Labor Government unveils its new budget today. It is expected to keep steep taxes on business and the wealthy, give some concessions to the working man—and possibly spur Conservatives to drive for a new election. The budget for the fiscal year which began April 1 gives Winston Churchill's Conservatives a major issue on which to attack Prime Minister Attlee's government. Holding power by a mere four-seat majority in the 625-seat Commons, the government must resign if it is outvoted on a major issue. The budget will be debated through Monday.

No Tax Slashes

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The outlook for a $1,000,000,000 slash in excise taxes—or any reduction at all—this year is dim. The tax bill being whipped up in Congress may run into a presidential veto. Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee told newsmen "the prospects are not bright" that the committee can produce a bill reducing taxes on such things as fur, jewelry, luggage, toilet articles, transportation and communications—and at the same time make up the revenue loss by larger collections elsewhere.

Patrolman Says

Bergemann say, "he is not going to get away with it, I got something in here to take care of him," and she had patted her handbag as she said it, the witness said he did not think she had made such a remark.

Keast said he did not recall serving two women in the bar next day when remarks were made about the Bergemann case. He said the shooting was being discussed freely in the town but he did not recall overhearing two women discussing the matter at the bar.

Asked specifically by defense counsel if he had not heard two women discuss the shooting and one of them say they were sitting next to Lutzel and Ruth Bergemann at The Well, The Chalet and Valley Inn just prior to the shooting and that they had been sitting "next to a murderer," the witness Keast said he did not recall any such conversation. He denied he had said in effect "There may be another story," Ruth said she had in her bag something to take care of him."

Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly of the State Police B.C.I. identified a bullet which was turned over to him by County Investigator Vredenburg, and which was taken to the State Police Laboratory for examination. He identified the bullet as the same as the one which was found in Lutzel's room.

Sergeant John Bitoff of Wurtsboro testified he had known Lutzel some 30 years, they having lived in the same neighborhood in Brooklyn and gone to school together. He saw Lutzel at the police station in New York and brought him back to Lake Katrine in company with Trooper Nicodemus. Bitoff said Lutzel seemed sober and told him he could not recall how he came to New York from Ulster county.

Lutzel was seen at the Bitoff home in Wurtsboro, N. Y., and related that he first became conscious of being in New York when he awoke in a restaurant and then went to a movie in the Times Square area. Bitoff said Lutzel told him he did not know where the car was but told him how to open the car if it was found.

Sergeant Bitoff said Lutzel told him how to open one of the vents on the right side of the car which had a broken catch. Next day Bitoff and Nicodemus went to New York and found the car on West 44th street. They observed it during examination by the police technicians.

Bitoff said he observed a spent bullet on the shelf at the rear of the car and identified it when it was produced. He also identified a purse which was found in the glove compartment. He said there was blood splattered about the left side of the car and on the rear window.

Bitoff did not question Lutzel about the shooting and Lutzel did not admit the shooting.

Trooper Nicodemus was called and testified in a similar nature to the activities in New York. He too said Lutzel appeared to be sober. He later drove the Bergemann car back to Ulster county.

Sergeant John J. Lawson was also called and testified to having had in his possession the bullet which was offered as the one found in the Bergemann car.

Recess until 2:15 o'clock.

New York city police detectives who were on duty when Theodore Lutzel appeared at Center street police headquarters on November 27, 1949, and surrendered himself to the police, testified Monday afternoon in County Court that Lutzel appeared to be sober and calm. He later made a statement which was offered in evidence.

Detectives Robert J. DeMario and James R. Ball testified they were on duty in the neighborhood where they received a summons to come to headquarters. There they saw Lutzel. It was about 9:30 p. m.

Asked what the trouble was, the detectives said Lutzel told them he had "just shot and killed his sweetheart. After this admission they took him to detective quarters at the Elizabeth street station and there took a statement which was reduced to writing.

Appeared Calm, Sober

When Lutzel first made the admission at the police station he appeared to be calm and sober. The same admission was made when Lutzel gave a detailed account of his actions the preceding night.

Both detectives identified the statement which was offered and said Lutzel had read it over and signed it.

Lutzel told the detectives he and Ruth Bergemann had been at The Well in Rosendale and had later gone to the Valley Inn and returned to The Well. Lutzel referred to a man with curly hair whom he did not know by name. There was a remark made about the girl and Lutzel, according to the officers, left The Well and entered Ruth Bergemann's car. The statement contained the fact that there ensued an argument and Ruth Bergemann said, "you broke my nose last week and you will not do it again this week" and then she opened her bag and he saw a gun. The gun went off and, according to the statement, she died. Lutzel said he saw Bergemann fall out of the car and then his mind went "blank."

Was in New York

Lutzel said he next was in New York where he had a couple of beers, attended a show in the Times Square theatre where they had eight acts of vaudeville. He had to wait around for the theatre to open at 11:30 a. m. He also visited a restaurant in that area and later went to a second picture show but only to see the picture. He went out and had a couple more beers and then went to the police station and gave himself up.

Both detectives said it was about 9:30 p. m. when they first saw Lutzel at the Center street headquarters, a patrolman who was on duty at the information desk said the man had walked in

Gaise, Gollnick Elected to Office At Lutheran Parley

Red Hook, April 18—At the spring convention of the Eastern conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York held here in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, two Kingston pastors were elected to office.

The Rev. David C. Gaise of Redeemer Lutheran Church was chosen as president and the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick of Trinity Lutheran Church was named vice president.

Present at the convention were almost 100 clerical and lay delegates, representing 70 Lutheran churches in the area.

The convention considered the cause of the Christian Higher Education Year Appeal of the United Lutheran Church in which the conference has responded for more than $125,000 of this $8,000,000 fund for the colleges and seminaries of the church.

"The cause of Christian education must be supported by the church," declared the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, former pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kingston, who is chairman of the conference committee on raising of funds for Christian education.

Raft From Plane

Copenhagen, Denmark, April 18 (AP)—Capt. D'Jack Klingler said today it was a "fair guess" that the raft found in the Baltic by a British freighter came from the ill-fated U. S. Navy patrol plane which disappeared last April 9 with 10 men aboard. He added that he was almost sure that the users of the raft had been alive after it hit the sea.

Job Is Still His

Seoul, April 18 (AP)—A member of the Korean National Assembly today tossed a wooden name plate at Speaker Kim Moon Pyung during a hot debate. Kim ducked. The name plate was the name of the hospital and clinic he had in 10 days—if he still wants it.

and said he wanted to give himself up.

The detectives said Lutzel volunteered the information about the shooting so they took him to the Elizabeth street station and took a statement. DeMario took down the statement and Detective Ball later typed it and Lutzel read it and signed it.

DeMario said he made no test as to whether there was alcohol on Lutzel's breath but he observed no evidence of excessive drinking. At the time Lutzel said he had in his pocket a small bottle of beer. He later told the detectives he had later in the paper that the finding of Miss Bergemann's car in New York. DeMario said Lutzel was later turned over to State Police for return to Ulster county.

On cross examination DeMario was asked by Beron if Lutzel had not said "I had trouble with my sweetheart and there was a shot." The detective said that had not been the statement.

Two Are Called

Detectives Sidney Hyman and Joseph A. Murphy of the New York city police laboratory were called and testified they had examined the Bergemann car and found what appeared to be blood spots on the seat covers and also on the left side of the car. They made tests and found it to be human blood. The seat covers were produced and placed in evidence. There was also human blood on the robe rail in the rear of the car.

Cross examined they said they were unable to find any satisfactory fingerprints. The prints were all blurred and could not be reproduced. Near the rear door on the left side was a spot of blood and adhering to it was a small chip which appeared to be bone. There was human blood on this object. It was not tested by the detectives to ascertain whether or not it was bone. Also attached to the spot of blood were a few hairs. Detective Murphy testified a spent bullet had been recovered from the car.

There were also several small splatters of blood on the car upholstery on the left side.

The last witness was Deputy Sheriff Joseph Gentile of Ellenville who was on duty at the court house on November 27 and accompanied County Investigator Vredenburg to the scene of the affair at High Falls. Gentile said he had assisted in taking measurements at the spot where the body was found and was also present at the funeral parlors in Rosendale when the autopsy was performed. He and Vredenburg arrived at the scene near the post office in High Falls about 3 a. m. on November 27. He identified the coat which Bergemann wore a shoe which was found lying between her feet and also several bullets which were found in Lutzel's room on the morning of Nov. 27 when it was searched.

Cross examined Gentile said he helped remove the body from the street at High Falls. There was a pool of blood about a foot in size under the head. He saw Otto Bergemann in a car at the scene, and also several bullets which were found in Lutzel's room on the morning of Nov. 27 when it was searched.

At the funeral parlors he assisted in taking photographs. He described the wounds which he saw in the girl's head at the time.

At the conclusion of Deputy Gentile's testimony court recessed until 10 o'clock today.

THE RUMINATOR
A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Although it is always difficult, if not impossible, to foretell what is coming in economic trends, it is even more difficult today.

Nevertheless, we have to try to peer ahead in order to manage our businesses and our welfare.

Furthermore, we have got to get it into our heads that the philosophy of government today—in these United States—is foreign to all the experiences of our 175 years of national life.

The philosophy is to prop up the economy artificially every time seers in Washington see the slightest indication that "purchasing power" may fall off.

This loose-money policy is blatantly reflected in the comment to the President that the Chief Executive must certainly take full credit for the prosperity of the country. Doubtless, Mr. Truman actually believes he is responsible for the nation's prosperity—and he is in the sense that he advocates methods and policies that bolster the economy on shaky supports. It is generally reported that Mr. Truman has no knowledge and understanding of economics; moreover, that he dislikes the "dismal science." He relies on his advisers and on one economic factor: Put money into the pockets of the people so they can buy more goods.

The acting Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, Leon Keyserling, is an easy-money man and an enthusiastic adherent of the Keynesian theory of pump-priming. His main line of economic defense is the expansion of "consumers' spendable income." If this income is not available in sufficient quantities from the ordinary processes of production, distribution, and financing, then ways and means must be found to pour dollars in the streams of trade.

Next, Mr. Keyserling fears that industry is not expanding rapidly enough to take up the increase in "consumers' spendable income." If over-expansion results, industry and hire workers expand industry, hire workers, and everything will be ducky in the Keyserling view. So, his advice today is to "force" industry to expand.

Only this week, in reporting on the first quarter of 1950, Leon Keyserling pointed out that "we are not getting the expansion in industry and investment that we need to absorb the steady increase in the labor force."

A. Granovsky at 9 a. m. (EST) to deliver the note.

The State Department made the note public here later following Moscow's procedure in publishing the initial protest on April 11.

In their original protest, the Russians described the plane as of the B29 type.

Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said it ignored orders over Soviet territory to land and fired on Soviet planes. He said a Russian plane returned the fire and the American plane disappeared toward the sea.

A wide spread search for the missing plane was abandoned yesterday.

As a prelude to the delivery of its reply to the Soviet charges the State Department cited the Russians with failing to match American "calmness and restraint" in dealing with an incident which put heavy stress on American-Soviet relations.

Emperor Visits General

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito made his tenth semi-annual call on General MacArthur today. The subject of their talk was not disclosed.

In view of the findings, the note said "It must be concluded that Soviet military aircraft fired upon an unarmed American plane over the open sea following which the American airplane was lost."

When the text of the communication was released here, a state department spokesman, Press Officer Michael J. McDermott, also made a formal statement which rebuked Russia for failing to show the "slightest evidence of any concern" over the fate of the 10 missing Americans.

By contrast, he praised the non-communist Scandinavian countries for their active efforts in the rescue search.

This supplementary statement said the investigation determined "An unarmed American navy plane with ten persons aboard was shot down by Soviet fighter planes over the open waters of the Baltic Sea."

More sharply worded than the note itself, the statement also declared Russia "ostentatiously" decorated the Soviet airman "in a manner calculated to give the impression that they are being rewarded for shooting down an American airplane."

most officials denied it, western officials said they did not know.

Russia's last big purge was in the mid-thirties, when a large number of generals and admirals were whisked off to firing squads. The supporters of Prime Minister Stalin managed by this to forestall an attempt to seize the power from him—but the purge wounds were a long time healing.

The executions were over-enthusiastic then, as most Communist since have admitted. The purge of the thirties probably would not be repeated in such a way, before the eyes of the world. If a new purge were under way now, the chances are it would proceed slowly and quietly, without fuss or fanfare.

Why might there be a purge today? Stalin is aging possibly even ill. In the not distant future the mantle of power must be passed on.

Malenkov Likely Best

Aggressive, ruthless Georgi Malenkov, 46, former chief of the party's apparatus, is a likely bet. And being a seasoned opportunist, Malenkov might not hesitate to put out of the way anyone who might thwart him.

There is some thought that this was behind the recent flying in the Soviet press of Andrei A. Andreyev, a member of the ruling Politburo. Andreyev publicly confessed he had erred in his direction of collective farms, but up to now apparently still has his job.

The Politburo, there is good reason to believe, has been brought up to full strength with a few additional alternates for good measure. The impression is given that there are now 17 on the Politburo of 13 members and four alternates. "This is a large number of alternates. It may be that some vacancies are expected. With regard to the situation of the top military brass, it is recalled that last spring the Soviet Union announced a far-reaching revision. It followed right after a shakeup in the Soviet cabinet. Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky confessed Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin as minister of armed forces. Then, two months ago, Rokossov set up a separate navy ministry in a drive to build up her sea power. All this suggests the possibility of a house-cleaning in the Soviet armed forces."

Hailey Opens Boom

Perry, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hailey will open here tonight an intensive 17 day public appearance tour designed to prove among other things, that he's not too old for rugged campaigning. The 73-year-old lieutenant governor is considered the leading contender for the Republican nomination next fall in case Governor Dewey does not seek a third term. Dewey's decision is expected within the next few weeks. Many Republican leaders have indicated that Hailey is their first choice if Dewey chooses to retire.

Similarly dressed, in daffodil yellow, were the bridesmaids, Miss Beatrice Churchill and Jeanne Odell, sister of the bridegroom, both of Rhinebeck. They wore yellow halos, and carried violets.

Miss Sara Jean Traver, Staatsburg, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white tulle gown with matching bonnet and carried spring flowers in a white basket.

Spivakovsky Sets His 750 Listeners Agog; Stunning Display of Violin Tone, Technique

Charming his audience with a tone of well-nigh incredible fullness, Tossy Spivakovsky, eminent Russian-born violinist, played a recital last night at Kingston High School auditorium before an audience of about 750 members of the Kingston Community Concert Association.

Possessor of impeccable pitch and a technique which he shakes off as easily as a dog shakes off water, Mr. Spivakovsky chose a program designed for easy and graceful listening, with occasional bits of rockets and Roman candles.

Musically speaking, the highlights of the program were the Bach Preludium and Adagio in E minor, the rondo from a Beethoven sonata, Bartok's delightful Roumanian Dances, and Tchaikovsky's charming Valse.

Mr. Spivakovsky set his audience agog with his masterful and easy handling of the famous 24th Caprice by Paganini, perhaps the most musical and one of the most difficult of the Caprices. His crisp left-handed pizzicati in one of the variations caused a murmur of admiration and delight to arise from the audience.

The concerto played by Mr. Spivakovsky was the second concerto of Wieniawski, a romantic and pyrotechnical work — a bit overly romantic for this reviewer's taste. The second movement, however, has lyricism and lyric sincerity and nostalgia. The third movement contains gypsy music brilliant in its virtuosic effects.

Wieniawski as well as being a composer, was known as a violin virtuoso for whom technical difficulties did not exist. Neither do they exist, we may add, for Mr. Spivakovsky, who is a true master through the difficult passages with effortless mastery.

And the while maintaining the broad and noble tone which has contributed so much to his popularity.

His playing of the Bach Preludium and Adagio in E Minor was especially interesting as a demonstration of his unusual bow technique which permits the playing of Bach's multiple-voiced music with the smoothness which is extremely difficult with ordinary bowing.

The Beethoven rondo was very well received, captivating the listeners' musical sense as well as their admiration for the again-flawless technique.

After intermission, Mr. Spivakovsky played a work entitled Homage to Chopin which he commissioned in honor of the centenary of Chopin's death from a contemporary Polish composer, Karol Rathaus. Reflections of Chopin's work will appear in this delicate and pleasing piece.

Also as a tribute to Chopin, the violinist played his own transcription of a Chopin etude—simple and appealing.

This reviewer especially enjoyed the Bartok Roumanian Dances which represent the research of the composer into ancient national music of Hungary and Roumania. Using the total system of ancient

MOTH by JAMES H. WINTERS

Once again we are approaching the time of year when the little destructive moth will be flying about. Older pianos are one of their favorite nesting places—this is because the housewife cannot thoroughly clean the inside of the piano. This should only be attempted by a competent piano tuner.

As a prevention against moth we suggest the generous use of good moth crystals, not just dumped inside where they may impair the working parts but placed at the advice of your tuner.

We said "older pianos" because all of the felt in our new pianos are moth proofed. Be fair to yourself — before you buy any new piano, at least drop in at 316 Fair street and see the lovely new models we have on display. Compare them and compare their prices. We guarantee you rock bottom values.

church composition the Bartok Dances are fresh and delightful. The program closed with the spirited and mellow scherzo from Spivakovsky's Valse, and then Mr. Spivakovsky delighted his audience with several traditional cores — Schubert's Ave Maria, Rimsky-Korsakov's Flight of the Humble Bee and the Caprice Viennois of Fritz Kreisler.

Mr. Spivakovsky's able accompanist was Leon Pommer, who is known in Woodstock, having visited there — J. M.

Good Taste Today

TABLE SERVICE

A group of young readers bring up this question: "Why is it that the family milk bottle is not permitted even on so informal a table as the breakfast table (mother quotes you) while in restaurants and at lunch counters small milk bottles are served to the customers? It seems so inconsistent."

I can't see the connection between a lunch counter and a dinner table. The requirements of a perfectly set table at home and those of a lunch counter have no resemblance whatever.

Pajamas at Home

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for a girl at home to wear satin pajamas and a three-quarter-length matching coat when she has visitors?

Answer: It depends entirely upon the pajamas. The very elaborate silk satin or velvet "slacks with coats" are entirely proper pajamas that in any way suggest suitability for sleeping, however would not be proper to wear outside of her bedroom.

Engagement Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: What would I do in our case? My son became engaged and soon after his fiancée visited us. However, her home is five hundred miles from ours, and there is no possibility of my meeting her family before the wedding. We saw the girl personally, but is there anything I should write the mother?

Answer: Merely write how much you like her daughter and that you are looking forward to meeting them. This should be a natural impulse of kindness, surely easy to follow.

Correct Names on Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: Are ladies supposed to appear on the personal cards, that graduates have made to enclose with commencement invitations and announcements?

Answer: Girls' names, yes—boys' names, no.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. If such problems as should a leafy salad be cut with a knife, etc. arise the answers are included in her leaflet E-19 "Mistakes Made in the Name of Etiquette." Little Gardens Club Holds First Meeting

The Little Gardens Club held its first meeting of the season Friday at the home of Mrs. Prescott Clapp, 320 Lucas avenue, with Mrs. John D. Groves speaking on the description of America given 200 years ago by Pehr Kahm, scientist sent to this country by Sweden.

About the year 1750 Mrs. Groves said, many contradictory reports concerning America were filtering back to Europe. Some reports said the land was terrible, some said it was wonderful. Some said crops grew with practically no care and others said poisonous plants were predominant.

At that time, Mrs. Groves said, Sweden was searching for a means of bettering her economic condition—weakened by a period of exhausting wars. The Swedish Academy decided to send one of its members to the new land to see what might be found. In particular the Swedes hoped to find a mulberry tree which might grow in their country.

They chose a kindly scientist Pehr Kahm, son of a Finnish clergyman, to make the investigation. After three years, he returned to his homeland taking a huge collection of specimens and a wife from New Jersey as well.

His journal, Mrs. Groves said, is one of the most valuable mines of source material about America of that era.

Danny Perlmutter Given Unconditional Release by Kingston Colonials

Star Outfielder
And Front Office
Are $100 Apart

No Trade Planned
For No. 1 Holdout

Lakewood, N. J., April 16—Danny Perlmutter, veteran outfield star and a .330 batter in 1949, was handed his unconditional release by the Colonials today.

The surprise announcement hit the training camp like a bombshell but was not unexpected in some quarters.

According to best available information, Perlmutter and the Colonial front office were $100 apart in a salary squabble.

(Perlmutter received $300 a month according to official records for 1949.)

Manager Emil Gall, who sat in on the final conference between Perlmutter and Al Kurdt, public relations man of the Colonials, said it ended in a stalemate.

Perlmutter was handed his release shortly after the conference ended. He packed his belongings and headed for Kingston.

No Trade Planned
A Colonial front office spokesman said this morning that the club was relinquishing all claims to the former C.C.N.Y. star and would not attempt to make any trades.

Perlmutter's absence from the lineup in the opening exhibition game against the Bushwicks was the first inkling of strained relations between the fleet outfielder and the front office.

It was reported at the time that Perlmutter had been left at Lakewood to handle the "B" squad in workouts while the varsity travelled to Woodhaven.

Other factors figured in the case but club officials declined comment.

Red Wings Plan Quick
Windup of Cup Series

Detroit, April 18 (AP)—Anxious to wind it up fast, the Detroit Red Wings take another whack at the New York Rangers here tonight in the Stanley Cup championship series.

The league champion Wings, enjoying a 2-1 edge, are strong favorites to make it three in a row and get a good grip on the prize cup.

A crowd of 13,000 to 14,000 is expected. Despite the distractions of the new baseball season, the Motor City still is hot over hockey.

A third in a row for Detroit would put New York in a desperate situation. All the remaining games of the best-of-seven series will be played here.

Fleet centerfielder, who batted .330 in 1949, is no longer a member of the Kingston Colonials. The club announced his unconditional release yesterday after a salary squabble in which they were reportedly $100 apart. Perlmutter has been a standout player in the Colonial League since its organization.

Villemain Pressed To Win in Boston

Boston, April 18 (AP)—Stamina and speedier punching were the assets that carried Robert Villemain of France to a split decision, over aggressive Joe Rindone, Boston middleweight, in their 10-round feature boxing bout at the Boston Garden.

Villemain had an edge in six of the sessions but many in last night's packed crowd of 13,415, Boston's largest boxing gathering in several years, roared disapproval of the official verdict.

The two judges gave the Frenchman, who came here to lift the crown held by his late countryman, Marcel Cerdan, 100-92 and 96-95 point margins. Referee Joe Zupatas gave each 97 points while terming the bruising engagement a draw.

The chunky Villemain, who bobs and weaves inside opponents to land both fists, spotted the straight-punching Rindone the first three rounds. Villemain succeeded in dominating the action from then on except in the ninth, when Rindone put on a spectacular two-listed attack to the head and body.

But that outburst took too much out of the tiring jut-jawed brawler, who took a severe pasting as Villemain sped through the finale in whirlwind fashion.

Stranahan Primed For North-South

Pinhurst, N. C., April 18 (AP)—The 50th annual North and South Amateur Golf tournament is starting in a manner befitting the golden anniversary of the tournament with the longest uninterrupted run of any major event in the country.

Yesterday's qualifying play produced a five-under par 67 by Harry H. Haverstick, Jr., Lancaster, Pa., whose 33-31 equalled the qualifying record set by George T. Dunlap, Jr. in 1934.

Haverstick needed that record-equaling round to nose out William C. Campbell, the West Virginia legislator from Huntington, whose 32-36—68 was only a stroke off the pace over a 6,932-yard Pinhurst Country Club course.

The defending champion, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, served notice that he is to be reckoned with. He banged out a 69 playing with Haverstick in the day's last twosome. The qualifying limit was 81.

Haverstick, heading the upper bracket, drew as his opponent today A. M. Foster of New York, who qualified with 77.

Stranahan looms as his most formidable opponent in the bracket. The Ohioan faced Mort Reed, 78 qualifier from Rochester, N. Y.

Campbell, heading the lower half of the draw, had as his opponent a capable Albany, N. Y., performer, Bill Shields, who shot a qualifying 77.

• A Trip to the Antarctic:

The man on the radio said the snowstorm had swept into Jersey from New York's Hudson Valley. Actually, it had followed us all the way down from Kingston. A half hour after we arrived at the Colonials' fabulous spring training quarters at Ocean Park hard by Lakewood, N. J., the penguins switched to long underwear and the 35 Colonial hopefuls scurried to their palatial 40-room mansion.

Ocean Park is a country estate of such magnitude that only a man of the late John D. Rockefeller's lofty financial status, would even dare to conceive it. John D. made a buck or two in his day, we are told.

The estate sprawls over several thousand acres and is large enough to encompass a golf course, three baseball diamonds, a large lake and acres of woodlands dotted with pine, spruce and fir trees. It is far removed from the hubbub of Lakewood, a sylvan retreat of Hollywood splendor.

You enter through the huge iron gate that is clamped tight precisely at 8 p. m. every day. Through one-way driveways flanked by pine on both sides you move a couple of miles into the area and straight to the magnificent 40-room mansion, with about 30 baths, several lounging rooms, sun parlors, a complete kitchen and a gorgeous view of Toms River county, N. J.

• John D. Slept There:

Now, you ask, how does a Class B ball club wind up in a spot like that? Soon after the death of the late billionaire oil tycoon, the property was deeded to Toms River County, N. J., with certain stipulations for its use by the public. It is open for week-end wedding parties, conventions and gatherings of that sort, we were told.

The New York Giants trained there for three consecutive springs when travel restrictions precluded any southern jaunts during the war period. The weather was ideal, the caretaker recalled, nothing like the sub-Arctic temperatures that hounded the Colonials on Thursday and Friday.

The Colonials have their own cook and chef and a massive Negro waiter for the training table. The chow was terrific and some of these undernourished rookies will fatten up before the club heads north. A sample breakfast menu of last week: hot or cold cereal, fruit juice, sausage and eggs, pastries and other bric-a-brac associated with breakfasts.

One thing can be said about the Colonials. They are the best fed, best-quartered club in spring training in organized ball. And they live in the finest quarters any minor league ever boasted.

• The Giants Did Well There:

The conversation among Manager Emil Gall, and caretaker and the sports writer drifted to the days when the Giants worked out.

"That Horace Stoneham was some host," the caretaker recalled. "He was a great guy for his friends and the newspapermen. The parties would start right after the conclusion of the Saturday workouts and last almost until daylight Sunday."

We were assigned the extra bed in Manager Gall's room. It was a big bed, the old fashioned style you don't see these days. "You'll be sleeping in the bed used by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the caretaker told us with great reverence.

This development merely pointed up the social deterioration of the mansion.

"Won't these youngsters go soft on you in a setup like this?" we queried of the Mgr.

"Not a chance," came the quick reply. "We're three miles from the center of town, nobody has a car and nobody gets out of that big iron gate except on Wednesday and Saturday nights. And the curfew is midnight."

We suddenly realized that Paul Freer, the pocket billiard expert, was in camp and together with the Mgr. we decided to go into town for a billiard session. We were doing alright at a dime a pot when Gall and Freer suddenly realized they were breaking training rules and we hustled back to camp.

Nature lovers will be happy to learn that there are about 40 deer on the estate and you can set your watch by their daily treks across the old golf course and the baseball diamonds. Been happening precisely at 9:30 a. m. every day for years the manager said.

When we left the deer were huddled in small packs under the pine trees. Unlike the penguins they couldn't change from evening clothes to long underwear and they seemed to be freezing to death. These are the vagaries, sometime, of spring training way down south near Asbury Park.

Nags to Yonkers

After Seven Years

Yonkers, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—Horses have returned to old Empire City for the first time in seven years.

Sixteen harness racers checked in yesterday for opening of the Yonkers racetrack trotting season April 27. Eleven were brought in by Tom Carlock, owner and driver from Greenville, Ohio. The other five checked in from Mrs. Romana Down's Romacha Stable in New Hyde Park, N. Y.

The last racing at Yonkers was a twilight trotting meet in 1943. The thoroughbreds bowed out after the 1942 season.

Flyers in Lead

Spokane, Wash., April 18 (AP)—Spokane's Flyers capped their comeback drive last night by skating to a 3-2 victory over the New York Rovers in the final game of their United States senior amateur hockey playoff. The win gave the Spokane club the series four games to three. The Rovers led three games to one at one time.

Newark, N. J.—Walter Cartier, 160, New York, knocked out Bobby James, 161, New York (2).

Smith Quits Football

For Baseball Job

New York, April 18 (AP)—Richard (Red) Smith, assistant coach of the New York Giants in the National Football League, announced today he would be forced to give up the job.

Smith said his new duties with the Dallas team of the Texas League would take up more time than expected. He is coach under Manager Charlie Grimm at Dallas.

However, Smith will do football scouting and talent hunting in the southwest for the Giants.

Grayson Still Likes Phillies As Darkhorse for N.L. Race

NEA Sports Editor
Talks in Saugerties

Admitting that his recent selection of the Philadelphia Phillies as probable pennant winners in the National League might be construed as a journalistic prank, Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor, told a Saugerties Lion Father and Son Night audience last night that "it could happen... definitely."

The banquet was held at the Pleasant Valley Inn.

One of the finest sports orators ever to be heard in these parts, Grayson regaled his audience with sports anecdotes and pointed comments on sports of the day.

Bob Russell and Joe Garland served as co-chairmen for the dinner. Robert Snyder, president of the Saugerties Lions Club, presided.

Team Coming Fast

Grayson's speech covered a wide range of topics and he delighted his listeners with a flock of stories about Yogi Berra, Casey Stengel, Lefty Gomez and other famous "characters" in major league history.

"The Phillies were the best ball club I saw down south," Grayson said, "and it's well to remember that these fellows are a year older."

If Mike Goltz clicks at second base and Curt Simmons arrives as a pitcher, the Phils will be tough, Simmons, a bonus baby, seems ready to break into stardom. And this team, mind you, averages about 24 years.

"The Dodgers have the greatest bench in major league baseball... not so much the bench as the farm system... and under ordinary circumstances should repeat, but I still like the Phillies."

"The Cardinals are a year older... Marion is a question mark. Slaughter may run out of gas and the pitching staff is a series of question marks."

Giants Lost Power
About the Giants-Braves trade, Grayson said:

"The Giants got the DP combination alright, but they sacrificed power they are bound to miss. Lurcher is a great manager in my book, but if he can mastermind this Giant squad into the National League pennant I'll be greatly surprised."

In commenting on the American League race, Grayson made the startling observation that "maybe Joe McCarthy is outmoded as a manager."

"The absence of a bench licked McCarthy two years in a row," Grayson observed, "and still Joe adheres to the old fashioned style of eight men and a pitcher. It can't be done in this day and age and McCarthy has been caught with his bench empty in two pennant races."

High on Yanks
The silver-haired New Yorker described the Yankees' chances as excellent. "The Yankee spirit is no myth," he said, "Joe DiMaggio is an impressive figure and looks like he's ready for a big season. He told me a few nights ago that he feels better today than he did when he broke into the big show. Stengel has a bench a lot of good ball players, if only a couple of great ones."

The difference between Stengel and McCarthy, he said, was their attitude toward the bench... the reserves. The Boston Irishman steadily refuses to try the two-plateau system. Stengel, on the other hand, uses 40 players up to the time the roster is cut to 25 and brings the crew right back on September 15. Stengel won the pennant and McCarthy. Draw your own conclusion."

Holyoke, Mass.—Eddie Compo, 130, New Haven, Conn., drew with Harry La Sane, 129, Houston, Tex. (10).

Ocean Park, Calif.—Manuel Madrid, 136½, Los Angeles, outpointed Bolton Ford, 136, Pittsburgh (10).

Rye Archer Keeps Golfers in Dither

Rye, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Robin Hood would have loved E. Frank O'Hara.
William tell would have clasped his hand.
But the Rye Wood Golf and Country Club loathes him worse than a sand trap or a water hazard.

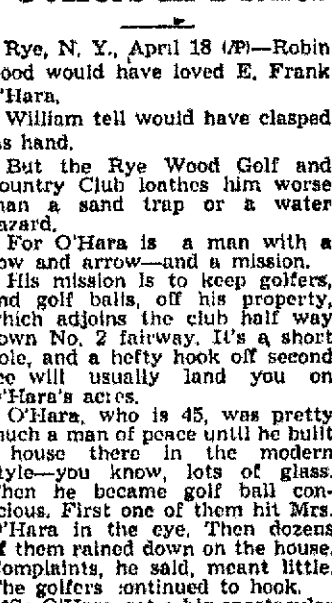

For O'Hara is a man with a bow and arrow—and a mission. His mission is to keep golfers, and golf balls, off his property, which adjoins the club half way down No. 2 fairway. It's a short hole, and a hefty hook off second tee will usually land you on O'Hara's acres.

O'Hara, who is 45, was pretty much a man of peace until he built a house there in the modern style—you know, lots of glass. Then he became golf ball connoisseur. First one of them hit Mrs. O'Hara in the eye. Then dozens of them rained down on the house. Complaints, he said, meant little. The golfers continued to hook.

"So O'Hara got a big spectacular archery butt and set it up Saturday—eight feet from the golf course. Then he bent his new 30-pound bow and began to practice. It was amazing how bad an archer O'Hara was, even without any practice.

Once in a while, it was true, he would hit the target. But so many times his arrows overshot and landed on the golf course. This always seemed to happen when a golfer drew near, although they drew less near as the week-end lengthened. In addition to keeping their eye on the ball, they kept it on Mr. O'Hara.

Are Using Plastic For Heart Valves In Tests on Dogs

Scientists attending the American Physiological Society meetings at Atlantic City were told today that it is possible to insert artificial plastic valves into the hearts of dogs to take the place of normal heart valves. These valves can be designed either to simulate the abnormalities seen in patients with various types of heart disease or to perform the functions of normal heart valves.

Doctors Rehm, Denton, Curtland Brown, Benedict Mastrianni, and Harold Wiggers, from the Department of Physiology at Albany Medical College, reported that they are using the valves to study the effects of various types of heart valve disease upon the action of the heart, circulation, and lungs. They now have several dogs who have remained in good health six months after heart operations to insert the substitute valves. One interesting feature of the artificial heart valves is that each one is constructed in one solid piece with no movable parts.

The scientists experimenting with the artificial valves believe that they hold great promise for the treatment of patients whose heart valves have been severely damaged by various types of heart disease. They emphasized, however, that many more experiments must be carried out in dogs before the practicality and safety of using artificial heart valves in patients can be determined.

The artificial valve studies are supported by research grants from the National Heart Institute and the American Heart Association.

Bomb Plan . . .

make a final settlement on the divorce. Ream said that the stewardess had frequently loaned Grant money and granted him use of her car.

Grant, during the war, was an engineer for Douglas Aircraft Corp., specializing in DC-6s. After the war he went to American Airlines in New York to supervise DC-6 operations and came here in 1947 as resident engineer for American Airlines. He left American in 1948 and for the past 11 months had been employed as a laboratory technician at Alre-search Manufacturing Co., near the airport.

"I'm sick man," Detective Logsdon quoted Grant "I just lost my nerve. My wife and my youngsters—it's not their fault. I'm glad it turned out this way. No one was hurt."

The Grants were married eight years ago. Their daughter, Marie, is six and their son, Robert, is five.

13 passengers and a crew of three were aboard the plane when the bomb was discovered. They were transferred—all except Mrs. Grant and the children—to another plane. Mrs. Grant was going to visit relatives in San Diego. She said her husband told her he planned to follow in a later plane.

The plot, recalled the tragedy Sept. 9 when a Canadian Pacific air liner with 23 aboard exploded in the air 40 miles from Quebec. J. Albert Guay is under sentence of death for planting a time bomb on the Canadian plane to kill his wife in a love triangle and to collect her insurance.

Grant is Held
Grant is held on investigation of attempted murder.
Mrs. Grant said her husband is a "worry-bug" but added:
"I'm not a vengeful woman but I can't describe just how I feel now. I want to talk to John."

The children told reporters they were disappointed because they didn't get the plane ride.
Said Bobby, who was five yesterday, "It was supposed to be a birthday present for me."

New President
Dr. Rita McLean of Newburgh was elected president of the Mid-Hudson Podiatry Division at the annual meeting held last night in Poughkeepsie. Dr. Gerry Sumner, of Kingston, retiring president, was named delegate to represent the division at the New York state convention in Riverhead, L. I., on July 27-29. Other officers named were: Dr. Irving Pashin, Poughkeepsie, vice-president; and Dr. Jerry Levy, Newburgh, secretary-treasurer.

After All Those Years

Morpeth, England, April 18 (AP)—Chimney sweep Anthony Pape made his own coffin and lived 20 years to admire it. He made it lovingly from the branches of an oak tree he used to climb as a boy. Then, when it came time to use the coffin after Pape's death at the age of 83, it had to be discarded. Pape apparently had neglected to measure himself for it. It was too small.
